

YODA FINGER PUPPET

Judge a puppet by its size, will you? Make up your own stories about the Jedi Master's adventures with this fun Yoda puppet. It's up to you which version you want to make—Prequel Trilogy Yoda, Clone Wars Yoda, or Original Trilogy Yoda.

WHAT YOU NEED

- Yoda body, robe front, and robe back patterns (see Appendix)
- Scissors
- Green, brown, red, and gray felt squares
- Straight pins
- Sewing needle
- Brown and green thread
- Chopstick
- Pillow stuffing
- Pipe cleaner/chenille stem
- Glue
- Googly eyes

and the front and back robe patterns to the brown felt with straight pins. Then cut the felt.

How to Make a Yoda Finger Puppet

- 1 Copy and cut out the Yoda body and robe patterns. Secure the Yoda body pattern to two pieces of green felt,

- 2 Sew the two pieces of green felt together, but don't sew the bottom—that's where your finger will go for the puppeting action. Use a chopstick to push the pillow stuffing into the head and top half of the body. Cut two small pieces of a pipe cleaner and stick each piece into the arms to make them bendy.

DESIGN TIP

Stick Puppet: For young crafters, instead of sewing, you can glue all the finger puppet pieces of Yoda to a wooden craft stick or chopstick to make a fun and easy stick puppet.

- 3 Next, sew the robe onto Yoda's body but don't sew the bottom. Don't forget to put the small gray felt square inside the robe.

- 4 Glue on a small green square for the nose, a small red triangle for the mouth, and googly eyes!
